

Norah Magero

Name of business: Drop Access

Position in the Company: Founder and Chief Executive Officer

Country: Kenya

About the business: Drop Access develops sustainable rural communities by providing access to affordable and practical renewable energy solutions for productive use. Drop Access was started by three Kenyan youths in 2018 to distribute home solar solutions and energy-saving cookstoves to rural households in Kenya. It was legally incorporated in 2019. It transitioned into a women-led and youth-led social enterprise whose focus is to provide solar pumping and cold storage solutions for farmers, healthcare institutions and households.

Norah is an award-winning Mechanical Engineer and a Renewable Energy Expert with experience in the design and management of off-grid energy innovations, with over 6 years of work experience in the energy industry. She is passionate about energy access in Africa, innovating decentralized solutions for use in rural communities and promoting gender equality.
